

ABSTRACT

A magnetic read head is described in which contact between the pinned layer and the AFM is limited to their edges. This still allows the pinned layer to be effectively pinned, but without the shunting effect of the AFM layer. Both TSV and BSV structures are disclosed as well as processes for their manufacture.